Attlee Hopes Talks Here Will Prevent Third Global War

Is Met Here
By President
And His Aides
Conferences To Get Underway Tuesday

Washington, Dec. 4—(AP)—British Prime Minister Attlee arrived here today for talks with President Truman aimed at finding a common policy in the world crisis and averting the threat of a global war.

Attlee's big four-engine British airliner "Cathay" rolled up on the National airport apron where President Truman, Secretary of State Acheson, Defense Secretary Marshall and other officials were waiting at about 8:45 C.S.T.

After the greetings, Attlee made a statement for the newsmen there.

He said his aim in the talks with Mr. Truman—which are to get underway tomorrow—is to align our policies in the new and trouble situation in the world and to find the means of upholding what we both know to be a right.

H. accused the Communist bloc of trying to "drive a wedge between our peoples."

From the airport, President Truman returned to his office where he had an engagement to see Senate Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois and other party leaders.

Attlee and his party of advisers went to the British embassy.

As a preliminary to his talks with the British prime minister, President Truman held a week end series of conferences with top military and diplomatic lieutenants and congressional leaders.

Schedule conferences began Saturday night, continued through Sunday and were expected to go on until the scheduled first session between Mr. Truman and Attlee at noon tomorrow.

Key legislators of both parties were given a separate briefing. Senate and house leaders and top men on the foreign relations committees were called to the State Department at 9:30 p. m. last night. Grim and silent, they left for home more than an hour and a half later.

Several termed the situation "very serious" and said they had been pledged not to talk to newsmen. They referred questions to the State Department, which was silent.

U. N. Is Alerted

There was also unusual activity around United Nations headquarters in New York. The U. S. alerted the U. N. General Assembly to be ready to deal with the intervention of Chinese Communists in Korea. The action followed a flying trip which chief U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin made to Washington Saturday.

On every side American officials said the present situation is loaded with danger and uncertainty. There persists some talk of a slight possibility of negotiating an arrangement with the Chinese Communists if their military forces in Korea can be stopped by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's battered U. N. forces.

Ty Club Brawl Puts Magazine Man in Hospital

A trio of brothers—all magazine salesmen—left Dixon Sunday after one was treated at KSB hospital for a broken nose and cuts allegedly received in a barroom brawl at the Ty Club on alternate 30.

The injured salesman was Leon Castle Sterling, 37, whose address was listed as Columbus Circle, N. Y., but who had been staying with his crew at the Hotel Nachusa.

According to the hospital, Sterling was treated as an out-patient Saturday night and then stayed Sunday morning. He is reportedly on his way to Rockford but due back here at the end of the week.

Sheriff Charles Redebaugh said the brawl apparently started when someone accosted a girl who was with the three brothers. Although the sheriff's office has two names including that of a Dixon man on probation, no charges have been filed.

Redebaugh said Sterling was to come in Sunday morning to sign a complaint but that he never appeared.

Arnould Says 'Mail Now' to Distant Points

Finish your Christmas shopping for distant friends quickly and get the packages in the mail. That's the urgent plea of Postmaster Rae A. Arnould.

All Christmas parcels for distant States should be in the mail tomorrow, the postmaster says. Packages for nearby points should be posted by December 9 to ensure delivery before Christmas.

December 15 is the suggested date for out-of-State Christmas cards, and a week before Christmas for last-minute local greetings.

If everyone waits and the mailings all come in together at the last minute, we will be swamped, the postmaster declares. "In addition to heavy Christmas mailings, the post office must handle the regular mailings including increased commercial shipments at this time of year."

The postmaster advises that post office windows are most crowded at lunch time and late in the afternoon. He recommends making packages before 10 a. m. and between 1:30 and 3:30 p. m. to avoid long lines and aching feet.

Wrapping Advice

The Postmaster renewed his appeal that packages be wrapped stouff, using stiff corrugated fiberboard, strong outer paper, and heavy tissue. Fragile items must be individually cushioned in a strong box to prevent breakage.

A package isn't properly wrapped to withstand the Christmas rush unless it can be tumbled down a chute, tossed some distance into a mail sack, and then have other loaded mail sacks piled on top of it.

Repeat Address

As precaution, the postmaster suggested repeating the address inside the package in case the outer wrappings get torn. However, written messages should not be placed in packages.

"Early and careful mailing is a courtesy to your post office workers," the postmaster points out.

"Early mailing is also an assurance that your Christmas gifts and cards will arrive while the Yuletide Spirit is still at its height. Remember, Christmas falls on Monday this year, which means a three-day holiday for many folks."

"Few things are so pointless as a Christmas greeting received in time for New Years, or a New Years greeting received about the time the last fine resolution is broken and forgotten. So please mail promptly this Christmas."

Windor, Detroit Map Campaign On Gambling

Detroit, Dec. 4—(AP)—Windor (Ont.) and Detroit police officials meet today to map further drives on what they describe as an international gambling syndicate doing a yearly business of more than $16,000,000 in the border cities.

The anti-gambling drive opened Saturday night with raids on 18 alleged race betting centers and the arrest of 104 persons.

All but two of the arrests were made in Detroit.

SHERIFF CHARLES REDEBAUGH today took his oath to uphold the constitutions of Illinois and the United States and to perform the duties assigned to him in Lee county. County Clerk Sterling D. Schrock swore Redebaugh in. It marks the current sheriff's first tour of duty as an elected official, although he served as chief deputy sheriff between November, 1946, and the ceremony today. Schrock, holding the Bible, is the courthouse veteran, having held public office since 1930. The first four years as county treasurer, the next 16 as county clerk. Judge Grover W. Gehant, seated, took over the county judge's bench in December, 1937. Treasurer Gilbert P. Finch, standing behind Schrock, served as sheriff between 1938 and '42, then four years as treasurer and four more as sheriff. He took his oath of office again today. John Torrens, county superintendent of schools, first took over his post in August, 1939. Here's the oath: You do solemnly swear that you will support the constitution of the United States and the state of Illinois and that you will faithfully perform all the duties of sheriff of Lee county, Illinois, to the best of your ability, so help you, God?

Perle Mesta Named 'Woman Of the Year' by AP Editors

New York, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Woman of the year for 1950, as named by an Associated Press poll of newspaper women's editors, is Perle Mesta, U. S. minister to Luxembourg.

The poll is conducted annually on a basis of headline interest. Since Mrs. Mesta's appointment in 1949, she has devoted herself seriously to her job in the little country.

The famous Washington hostess has been recalled to the spotlight also this year by the current smash hit on Broadway "Call Me Madam," in which Ethel Merman portrays the "Lady Ambassador to Lichtenburg," proclaimed lustily as "The Hostess With the Mostest on the Ball."

For her success in the hit musical, Miss Merman is voted the year's outstanding woman of the stage.

Others voted outstanding in various fields are as follows: Movies: Gloria Swanson, by almost unanimous vote.

Literature: Pearl S. Buck, first woman to win the Nobel prize, in 1938.

Science: Dr. Irene Corey Dillier, of the Institute for Cancer Research, Philadelphia.

Sports: Gussy Moran, who won headlines for unorthodox dress on Radio Mary Margaret McBride. Business: Vivien Kellems, Stone-ington Conn. manufacturer whose continuing fight against withholding income taxes from her employees has made her a thorn in the side of Uncle Sam.

Music: Margaret Truman, daughter of the president, continuing her concert career.

Education: Millicent Carey McIntosh, dean of Barnard college and mother of five.

Paul Arnould Has Close Call In Auto Crash

An 18-year-old Dixonite escaped serious injury Saturday night when rain and fog caused the car he was driving to ram the rear-end of a pickup truck stalled on U. S. 52 a half-mile north of Sublette.

He was Paul Arnould, 1123 S. Galena avenue. Sheriff Charles Redebaugh said the stalled truck was driven by James Piller, 50, Mendota.

According to Redebaugh, Piller's pickup stalled and then remained on U. S. 52 without lights. He said Arnould, going north, hit the left rear of the pickup. Both vehicles were towed away.

Gloria Fiorini, 19 Sterling was riding with Arnould but neither was hurt.

State Hospital to Pay Twice Monthly After 1st of Year

W. R. Handy, business manager at Dixon State hospital said today the institution's 580 employees would be paid twice a month starting in 1951 instead of once a month.

The Goodfellow fund has been increased over the weekend and seems to be getting a good start, but Christmas will be here in less than three weeks and it will take a large sum of money to bring Santa Claus to all homes in Dixon where he is eagerly awaited but may not arrive unless the Goodfellows of Dixon open their hearts (and purses) and give the financial aid that will be necessary if the Wa Tan Ye club the new sponsors of the Goodfellow movement, are to be able to reach the goal of a happy Christmas for every child in Dixon who needs help.

Get your donations in early, please.

If you have clothing to donate, bring it to the Wa Tan Ye club headquarters at 95 Ottawa avenue Saturday afternoon or contact Mrs. Pete Miller, Dial 2-0701 or Mrs. William Hubbell, Dial 3-5401.

If you have toys or sleds or dolls or doll carriages or any article of that nature, please take them to the fire department at the city hall where the firemen are busy repairing and repainting and renewing toys for the Goodfellows for Christmas.

The Goodfellow club is very anxious to get the names, sex and age and address of every child under twelve years old who will need help to have a nice Christmas. Mail these names to the Goodfellow club, care of the Evening Telegraph.

Cash donations may be sent or left at the Evening Telegraph office or at either of the Dixon banks or at the Chamber of Commerce.

Married 385 Days, They Want Divorce

A 355-day marriage reared its end today when Mrs. Lola I. Willard charged her husband George E. with cruelty.

Mrs. Willard charged her mate once hit her in the eye with a package of cigarettes according to a complaint filed in the office of Circuit Clerk John O. Shaulis Jr.

The Willards who were married Nov. 5, 1949, in Morrison, had lived at 507 W. Third street. They separated November 25, 1950. They had no children. Mrs. Willard asked for the return of her maiden name, Lola Carnahan.

Widow, 2 Sons Named By Rhodenbaugh

The widow and two sons of the late Jacob H. Rhodenbaugh, Harmon were listed as heirs to his $22,500 estate today in Judge Grover W. Gehant's county court.

Mr. Rhodenbaugh, who died Nov. 20 did not leave a will. The estate, $20,000 in real estate and $2,500 in personal property, will be divided among Louise A., the administrator and Frank and Alvin, all of Harmon.

Handy confirmed an Associated Press report of the change.

AP said the switch was announced today by State Auditor Benjamin O. Cooper. Employees in other constitutional offices have been on a twice-a-month schedule for years.

Cooper said a provision for putting code department workers on this basis has been on the statute books for 15 years but never had been put into effect.

The change was made possible by the installation of modern business methods in the auditors' office.

Fine Youths on Delinquency Charges Here

A teen-aged drinking party Nov. 3 finally ended in county court Saturday when two boys were fined after they pleaded guilty to contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Previously, the episode led to the sentencing of one boy to St. Charles, one to Vandalia, and the fining of a Dixon barkeep $100 on a charge of selling liquor to a minor.

The affair also provoked a flurry of words between Mayor J. Fred Hofmann and Circuit Judge George C. Dixon. Judge Dixon charged the mayor with "coddling bartenders."

Mayor Hofmann answered he did what he thought was right and that he would continue to do so.

Saturday, Robert Colter, 17, of 352 Everett street, was fined $75 and William Giese, 18, of 613 E. Bradshaw street, was fined $125 by County Judge Grover W. Gehant.

State's Attorney Morey C. Pires recommended the heavier fine for Giese because his car was used during the party.

The father of a 15-year-old Dixon girl signed a complaint against the four boys and said his daughter came home drunk. The girl later testified in court that one of the boys had given her beer.

A month ago, William Doctor, 17, of 697 Jefferson avenue, drew an indefinite sentence at St. Charles in connection with the spree and Kenneth Henson, 18, of 422 Monroe avenue was sentenced to three months at Vandalia.

Colter and Giese were represented by James Bales.

Schick's 10c Ticket Costs $10 in Court

John T. Schick, 420 Lincoln way, a Dixon painter, was fined $10 and costs today on a disorderly conduct charge for tearing a 10c parking ticket into four pieces.

Schick pleaded guilty this morning in front of Justice of the Peace Sterling W. Schrock. He was represented by Robert L. Brecken.

He was arrested Friday night when he tore a ticket up in the police station and said he wouldn't pay it.

American-Made Tanks and Arms Used by Chinese

Washington, Dec. 4—(AP)—The Pentagon has been advised that the Chinese Communists used some late model American-made arms in turning back Gen. Douglas MacArthur's offensive in North Korea.

This was reported today by responsible military authorities who said the newest model 3.5 inch tank-buster bazookas were included among the identified arms of the Communists.

Those turned against the U. N. forces in recent days presumably were captured last summer.

M'Arthur Says 818,000 Reds In North Korea

Chinese Troops to Move in on Capital

Tokyo, Dec. 4—(AP)—United Nations forces threw up a rear-guard shield 10 miles north of Pyongyang today to protect their bitter retreat south through that tense former Red Korean capital.

Little fighting was reported in that northwest sector. But Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, U. S. Eighth Army commander, said the Red Chinese had rolled five armies of 15 divisions—up to 150,000 men—south of the Changchon river within striking distance of Pyongyang.

These were the shock troops of more than 1,000,000 Chinese that General MacArthur said either were in Korea or heading for the battlefronts from Manchuria and central China.

In the bitterly cold northeast, reinforced Chinese mounted a critical and more immediate threat to the U. S. Marines and four other UN divisions.

The Reds were driving on the twin east coast industrial cities of Hamhung and Hungnam. They threatened to isolate the entire 10th Corps. Its five divisions are widely scattered over the rugged northeast Korean icebox.

Release U. S. Wounded

Marines and doughboys battled desperately to break out of deep Red traps in the Changjin reservoir area. AP Correspondent Tom Stone reported Chinese pressure on them eased somewhat Monday, however.

The Chinese oddly released 27 wounded Americans in the reservoir sector. This brought to 84 Americans similarly released.

In the northwest, AP Correspondent Leif Erickson reported that the Eighth Army's retreat eventually might wind up along a defense line around the republic capital of Seoul and its port of Incheon. He said it did not appear possible to set up a line across the peninsula, lining with the scattered 10th Corps.

Erickson said Walker apparently was directing a skillful escape from the familiar Chinese envelopment tactics.

Allied fighters and bombers pounded incessantly at the Chinese and remnant Korean Red forces throughout North Korea.

So massive were the oncoming Chinese forces, however, that it appeared likely they could power through into South Korea if such a decision was made by the Red high command.

Far behind allied forces on the east coast, a Chinese force was wheeling from the middle of the peninsula toward the supply port of Worsan. This thrust threatened.

Ministers Put Off Plan for County Group

Members of the Dixon Ministerial association today tabled a proposed constitution which would broaden the group into a county-wide organization.

The delay in creating the Lee county group was caused when doubts were expressed that the majority of pastors want a county-wide body.

Speaker at the meeting was State's Attorney Morey C. Pires. Pires said he believes a group of ministers or laymen could be formed to meet with families and youths to straighten out family troubles before the troubles have come to the office of the state's attorney.

Tells of Resentment

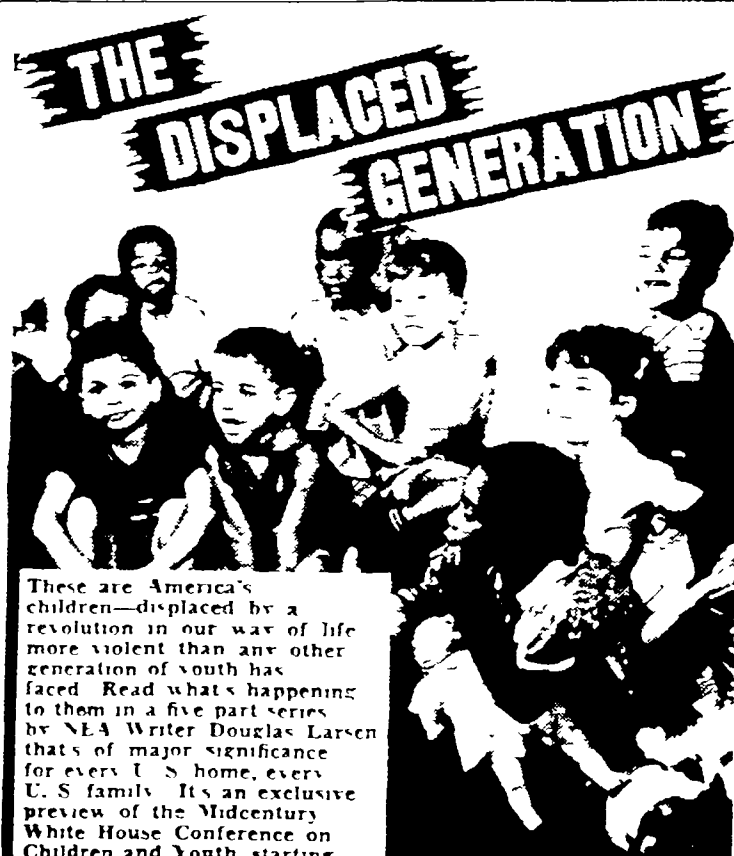

He said both the parents and children have a certain amount of resentment toward his office when it tries to handle juvenile problems. He stated groups of people who really know boys, not just claim they do, could be much more effective in halting delinquency and juvenile crime.

Pires pointed out that probation usually fails because conditions in the home which contributed to delinquency in the first place are still there when the youth is on probation.

Truancy Danger Sign

A danger sign to be watched is truancy from school, the state's attorney said. If the advisers appointed by the church could meet

Retreat of United Nations Troops from North Korea Resembles Biblical Pageantry

By HAL BOYLE

With American Troops in North Korea—(AP)—They were coming back down the roads that led to home.

But they were coming back down them in defeat instead of victory. And every mile was more bitter than the one before. For these were miles they had bled to win—and now they were losing them.

And the dream of going home receded farther with each passing mile—like a mirage of heaviness fleeing a heart that no longer dares to hope.

Death in the Snow

The roads no longer led to home. They were only roads going back to more stubborn stands against an outnumbering foe. More winter wounds, more death in the snow.

It was a different withdrawal—different from that made last summer by many of these same men. Then they had fallen back in the firm faith that the might of America and other lands would come in time to save them and help throw back and destroy the enemy.

This time they had no such surety. For in their ranks the United States army already had committed more than one-third of its entire striking power.

Like a Tidal Wave

And how could it train and bring over enough fresh divisions in time to fight off the tidal wave of Chinese troops behind them? And how could the other United Nations do so?

Thus the American Eighth Army came back from its broken offensive, launched on Nov. 24, aiming to reach the Manchurian border and end the Korean war.

A giant yellow paw was at its back. Before it stretched only the prospect of fresh fighting in old foxholes the men would rather forget than return to.

But in retreat and defeat—as it had been in its few brief weeks of victory—it was an army to be proud of.

Biblical Pageantry

Seen from the air its march held both magnificence and pathos. There was a Biblical pageantry about it.

In a plane at 4,000 feet the great retreat looked like a scene from a silent movie epic or a vast and timeless tableau in colored wax.

Everything seemed frozen—grey clouds... the green mountains... the yellow roads... the dusty little cars... the whiteclad groups of refugees wading the rivers or huddling together on the hills... the endless columns of troops in olive drab.

But as the plane came lower the tableau surged with swarming life. The battlecars became jeeps and trucks and weapon carriers and artillery pieces and trailers and ambulances carrying back wounded.

And the tiny figures became people—a tired infantryman limp-ing behind his outfit, a shivering Korean carrying his mother on his back through knee deep water fringed with ice, a group of soldiers from a parked convoy thawing out around a roadside fire.

All the one 110,000 men who had jumped off in attack the week before weren't in the columns of vehicles that jammed every lane. Many would never return. But they had gone up as an army. And they were coming back as an army.

They Have Courage

They had their courage and most of their weapons and they were ready to fight again.

The discipline was perfect. There was no panic, no haste, no reckless rush of vehicles to pass each other.

The convoys moved as deliberately as if they were only on a peace-time maneuver. They rolled along bumper to bumper—but that is the way American convoys always move, except when they are in danger of air attack.

In the plane circling over the long column was a former fighter pilot from the last war, Lt. Col. Cecil H. Scott, Fort Worth, Tex. He looked down at the thousands of Americans, South Koreans, English, Scots, Australians and Turks—the first United Nations army in full retreat.

"It Hurts Me"

"Goddamn, that hurts me," he said. "It hurts me where I can't scratch it."

And it sounded like a benediction.

There wasn't as much bitterness among the troops over their defeat as one might expect. One of the first soldiers to return said: "I don't worry so much about what happens to us. But if we do go under here what will we have left at home to defend our people?"

Oregon Company Announces Its Recapitalization

Wood Brothers Manufacturing Co., Oregon, announced that the proposed recapitalization of the company has been duly qualified and registered with the state of Illinois. The $10 par Class A shares are now available to investors and it is expected that the new stock certificates shortly will be mailed to stockholders. The new Class A shares have several preferential provisions.

A total of $240 shares of Class A stock will be issued under the new capitalization. Of this amount only 4,960 shares will be made available for sale at this time. A considerable amount of this stock already has been subscribed.

The details for this new financing have been handled through S. A. Sanden & Co., investment brokers, Rockford. Inquiries concerning subscriptions to the new Class A shares can be directed to this firm or to the office of Wood Brothers.

The recapitalization will provide the company with the additional funds necessary for the rapid expansion of their business. It will also provide a flexible capital structure which will permit it to grow to any size on a healthy financial basis. This is important because the company has new and highly marketable products to introduce and get into production as soon as manufacturing space and raw materials are available.

Legion Women, Other Meetings In Compton

Compton—The District Director, Mrs. Kay Geiger, was the speaker at the American Legion Auxiliary meeting on Monday evening.

Mrs. Geiger explained the activities of each department in the Auxiliary, placing special importance on Americanism. Mrs. Etta Jeanblanc sang, "Whispering Hope," accompanied by Mrs. Georgia Knauer. At the business meeting which preceded the program, plans were made for the December family party on Dec. 18.

A scramble supper for all Auxiliary and Legion families will be followed by a Christmas program. In addition to bringing gifts of candy, cookies or cigarettes the new veterans at Dixon State Hospital unit members are asked to help veterans at other hospitals by bringing pocket edition books, books, new magazines, comic books, cards, jigsaw puzzle games such as checkers and old eye-glasses.

The unit voted contributions to the rehabilitation department.

2-Way Radio Urged To Stop Train Wrecks

Washington, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Rep. Price (D-Ill.) said today he is convinced that a two-way radio communication system would have prevented the recent Long Island railroad disaster which took 78 lives.

Urging that congress immediately consider rail safety legislation now pending, Price said the Interstate Commerce commission should be empowered to make tested warning devices compulsory.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

An Editor Fights Totalitarianism

Not all the fighters for freedom wear uniforms and carry guns. Some wear horn-rimmed spectacles and well-tailored suits and their work is no less effective because they fight totalitarianism with the printed word.

One such fighter for freedom is Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz, the handsome, scholarly editor and publisher of La Prensa of Buenos Aires. La Prensa has long been known as one of the world's great newspapers. Its true greatness is attested today by the fact of its continued existence in the capital of Dictator Juan D. Peron.

With immense patience, La Prensa scorns the petty torments of Peron and his followers and continues to report the news and comment upon it. That news is true news and those comments spring from profound convictions and never from fear.

Newspaper after newspaper has been crushed in Argentina for daring to print objective news or editorials opposing Peron's Nazi-like program. Often it has seemed that Peron's fist would descend upon La Prensa, but always some power has stayed the fist.

While La Prensa has been permitted to live, its existence has been a series of provocations and tortures. Mobs of Peron's descamisados (shirtless ones) have been turned loose against the newspaper's building. Its newsprint supplies have been confiscated, its books seized.

Of all these difficulties, the hardest to take was the confiscation of newsprint. La Prensa's paper stocks were thrown into a pool from which Peron's bureaucrats doled it out to all the newspapers, thus giving the slavish propagandists for Peron the advantage of La Prensa's business acumen and foresight in stocking paper.

Like most bureaucrats, Peron is inefficient as a newsprint buyer. The other day paper began to run very short in Argentina and for several days La Prensa did not know from one day to the next whether it would have enough newsprint. One day's paper was printed on heavy stock borrowed from the Sunday rotogravure section. Finally the government cut everybody's supply 20 per cent and hoped a shipload of paper would arrive in time to lift the squeeze.

While visiting the United States recently, Dr. Gainza announced that his newspaper will make an award each May to a writer, citizen of any of the American countries, who has made an outstanding contribution to inter-American friendship. The award will consist of transportation to and from Buenos Aires, a silver plaque and 25,000 pesos ($1786).

This award is most appropriate, coming from the newspaper of one whose gallantry in the face of Fascist opposition has stimulated admiration throughout the Americas and in this country in particular. The people of the United States love a fighter; that in itself is a great contribution to inter-hemisphere understanding by Dr. Gainza Paz himself.

No doubt La Prensa's award will encourage writers to demonstrate the immense value of friendship and mutual support among the peoples of the American nations at a time when the liberties they strive to achieve and cherish are menaced in Asia and Europe.

Since we have the backing of Christianity, biology and democracy that mankind is one, and that these prejudices are not innate, but artificially imposed at an early date on the mind of the child, then we can deliberately take steps to build up new attitudes toward other races.

4. I will cease sticking labels on whole peoples. It is not true that "Japanese are tricky," "Jews are materialistic," "Germans are Huns," "Negroes are shiftless"—some are, and some are not.

5. I will deliberately cultivate friendships with people of another race. I will probably find that down underneath surface differences we are fundamentally one. A German woman, after the last war, in applying for a job in which she felt there would be prejudice against her said, "Madam, we both shed the same tears." We do.

6. I will deliberately set out to find what I can learn from people of another race. Each race has something to teach people of other races. It takes many differing notes to make a symphony. The white and black keys on the piano are the symbol of the fact that it takes both races to bring out the full music of humanity. One year I found that the three people who had influenced me most were Gandhi, Booker T. Washington and Kagawa—not one of them my color or race.

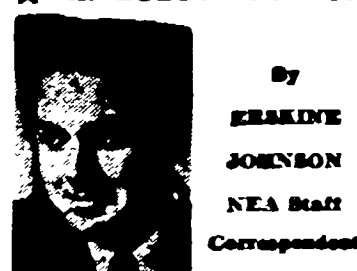

7. I will deliberately try to bring people of other races into my church fellowship. Every white church should have at least one member of the colored race as an honored member, and every colored church, at least one white member, as a symbol that the Christian church is different from surrounding society.

8. I will deliberately identify myself with the dispossessed and discriminated against and make their disabilities my own, until everything is thrown open to everybody on the basis of equal opportunity to all. Their cross shall be my cross; and their resurrection, my resurrection.

Gracious Father, here I will find my cross in modern life. I will become a part of the disabilities that fall on others. Help me to choose to be identified with the forgotten and despised. And make this choice real and not mere gesture. For I am bound in the bondage of others and degraded in their degradations whether I identify myself with them or not. Help me to take it on myself. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Hollywood—(NEA)—The Laugh Parade. Lauren Bacall dragged Humphrey Bogart to a performance of the Sadlers Wells ballet when it played Los Angeles and he's still yawning. "A little too classical for me." But the other night the Bogarts entertained ballet star Robert Helpmann at their home and Bogie liked him much better.

"We shot craps," Bogie whispered to me.

There's a big discussion among an Air Force group in a scene for "The Thing" about who will decide what to do with a captured Man-from-Mars. A private says: "The captain will consult the major, the major will consult the general, and the general will consult the Pentagon and the Pentagon will consult Truman."

"But who's Truman going to consult?" wonders a corporal. "Margaret," flips a major.

Years before Jose Ferrer scored on Broadway and chalked up a movie triumph in "Cyrano de Bergerac," he was taken to playwright Russell Crouse by his agent. "What's the name?" queried Crouse.

"Ferrer, Ferrer, pronounced 'Fur-air,'" said the agent.

"Ferrer," mused Crouse. "Hm, I once met your brother—Come Up Ferrer."

BRIGHT SAYINGS OF KIDDIES

Director Richard Thorpe's nephew, a precociously movie-conscious kid, saw his father filling out a blank pleading a financial contribution following church services.

"Hey, pop," said the kid, "What is that—an Audience Reaction card?"

Many jokes have been told on the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, but John Rothwell and Rudd Weatherwax tell the best in a new book, "The Story of Lassie."

Lassie was working in a movie in the High Sierras of Northern California and an SPCA representative, William McNally, was assigned to the company.

One morning McNally failed to appear where the company was shooting, several miles from camp. As Rothwell and Weatherwax tell the yarn:

"We were ready to shoot the first scene for the day and still no Mac. So several of us started back along the trail to search for him, fearing he might have lost his way. Then we saw him perched high in a tree. Seated on the ground below was a huge bear. Somebody in the crowd couldn't resist asking him: "Why didn't you show him your SPCA card?"

New Yorkers are still laughing about Pat O'Brien's crack when he was rushed in to replace Joe E. Lewis for one evening performance at the Copacabana. Pat walked out in a high silk hat, looked at the customers and said:

"Joe's a great pal of mine and it's Yom Kippur. Joe doesn't work on Yom Kippur so I'm pinch-hitting for him. He does the same thing for me on St. Patrick's Day."

MATCHLESS ANECDOTE

Tony Curtis' mother, who still clings to the family name of Schwartz, is an avid matchcover collector and measures her son's film progress by the books of matches he brings home. Throughout the making of "The Prince Who Was a Thief" at U.I. however, she refused to be impressed by the fact that her young progeny was actually being given star status.

But the other night Tony returned from a Hollywood party and pressed a book of matches into his mother's hands.

"At last I know my son is a big star," Mrs. Schwartz murmured tremulously. "Cecil B. DeMille's MATCHES!"

BOB, MOREY AND HARRY

To the Editor
Dixon Evening Telegraph
Dixon, Illinois
Dear Sir:

I had a dream "tuther Nite." Dreamed I went to the Brookfield Zoo, and there stood Morey before the lions cage, I says, "Morey, how would you like to put your head in that lion's mouth?" "No, no," says Morey, "he may have teeth."

I went a little farther and came to a tank of seals, and there stood Bob, says I to Bob, "What do you think of those seals?" Bob says, "Pretty slick aren't they?"

Went a little farther and there was a fellow, who had put green glasses on an ox and was trying to feed him shavings for grass, says I to the man, "Do you suppose he will eat those shavings?" Well if he does he will be as dumb as George's version of the Lee County Republican Central Committee.

Went a little farther and there stood John P. and he was offering for sale nice new crisp $10.00 bills for only $1.00, he was talking to H. C., says I to Harry, "How many are you going to buy?" Says Harry, "They look phoney to me."

Went a little farther and came to the cage of the laughing Hyena and there stood Stransky, says I to Stransky, "What are you doing here?" Stransky says, "This Hyena and I are having a darn good laugh."

Would like to have the above appear in the Voice of the People Column if you can spare the space.

THE BRANNAN PLAN

Dear Editor:

The Illinois Agriculture Association which enjoys a tremendous amount of business through their depots, familiarly known as Farm Bureau facilities in each county, have gone all out against the Brannan Farm Plan.

The Brannan Farm Plan which proposes a guarantee of full parity to the farmer, is fought by these commercial interests who are interested solely in the profits of processing cheap farm products, and not in parity for the farmer. They are interested in selling the processed products in their catalogue to the farmers through their bureaus; but come out against a parity guarantee.

Without price support, the farmer would soon drag the whole nation into another depression. These commercial interests would be happily processing cheap farm products again. They are the only ones to gain with cheaper farm products.

The farmers better organize a society exclusively for "rooks" if they miss this boat for parity which the Brannan Farm Plan guarantees.

We have two choices in this country. Either we uphold our economy with guaranteed parity to the farmer, or we all slip to the wishes and profits of the commercial interests who want cheap farm products for processing.

Sincerely,

A Farmer

A West Virginia study published in 1906 concluded that "meadows should be the most profitable farm crop, but because of neglect they are not."

Bold Bad Bids

Gald Partner

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

"If the hearts had split four and four we would have had game and rubber," said Bill, the bold bad bidder.

"Yes, and if your head hadn't split right where the brains ought to be, we would have had game and rubber anyway," retorted his partner.

"You mean we should have played the hand in diamonds," said Bill. "Gosh, with my weak opening bid I hated to think of trying for 11 tricks. Furthermore, my three clubs. If I held a heart stopper I could bid the three no-trump myself. As it was, I would simply have bid five diamonds and made it as any fool can plainly see."

"You could have bid over my three no-trump," said Bill.

"Playing with an idiot, I should have," said the partner. "However, I like to trust my partners. After all, you might have been bidding correctly, in which case my bid was to pass."

Of course Bill was completely wrong on this hand. His opening bid was weak, but normal enough. When his partner responded with two diamonds Bill showed this by merely rebidding to two spades. Actually, some players would have raised to three diamonds then and there but the spade rebid is undoubtedly correct.

Then, when the partner bid three clubs Bill should have had no problem. All he had to do was to bid three diamonds. With the hand he actually held his partner would simply have bid five diamonds and would have made the contract without any trouble.

If his partner held a weakish two suiter he would have passed and made a nice partial score while if his partner held a heart stopper he could have contracted for three no-trump himself.

There was nothing to the play at no-trump. West opened the five of hearts. East held the first trick with the queen and played the king which also held. West won the third heart lead and cashed his two remaining hearts to set the contract.

I had both your aces. It looked as if you might have something in hearts."

It Seems That Some Organizations Get "Sponsors" for Their Efforts in Devious Ways.

New York—I have reported the withdrawal of prominent individuals from the Society for the Prevention of World War III because they refused to submit to the political dictation of Isidore Lipschutz, the mysterious diamond merchant, who put up much of the money. They would not permit the society to carry on certain correspondence and propaganda in their name without consulting them.

Arde Bulova, the watch manufacturer, was listed as a member in 1946. Although he never joined the society, Mr. Bulova is in Europe, but his secretary, a Mr. Herschel, said:

"He made a contribution. And found his name on the letter-head without having joined."

Had it been necessary to take legal steps to compel the society to drop his name from the "advisory council?"

"Our lawyer did intervene: that is true," said Mr. Herschel, "but it wasn't a very big dispute."

On the telephone Herbert Bayard Swope said:

"Anything not in accord with their prescription was necessarily evil. Lipschutz I never trusted much. I am personally in favor of rearming western Germany. They claimed me as a member and I made them take down my name."

Applying these oral remarks,

Mr. Swope wrote:

"I do not think I was a member for more than a brief time, resigning because I thought the attitude toward the American problem in Germany was unreasonable."

Lyle Evans Mahan, a son of the late distinguished Admiral Mahan, was one of the founders of the society. He and Rudolph Fluegge, a naturalized German, depicted Lipschutz as an overbearing man who seemed to think his ideas carried the most weight because he was putting up the most money.

They said a Miss Davis, formerly secretary to Major George Fielding Eliot, the writer, was brought in to be secretary of the society at the insistence of Mahan, Eliot and Fluegge. Miss Miriam Stuart, her predecessor, had resigned.

Mahan said: "There was always a great deal of fighting against what Lipschutz did. He was suave and polite to members of the board, of course, but he was wretchedly rude to employees. He snatched a telephone from the hand of Miss Stuart because he didn't want her to talk to this person. Anyone who would treat a lady that way—and Miss Stuart was a lady—well, that was too much."

Miss Stuart said she recalled the incident "very definitely."

"I do not hesitate to say that he has not good manners," she said. "That was the reason I quit. I couldn't take it any longer. I wouldn't put up with such humiliation. He is completely overbearing and shoots off his mouth."

She said James H. Sheldon, who sometimes calls himself "professor" and operates Lipschutz's Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi league, was subjected to "frightfully rude" treatment when Sheldon called at the office of the society to ask Lipschutz to meet the league's payroll. Sheldon is "director" of the league which interlocks with the society. He served briefly at Boston university as "visiting assistant professor" and later as "instructor."

During the recent New York mayoralty campaign, Sheldon's name was signed to a shockingly dishonest "scare" advertisement charging that "the underworld and the Tammany totalitarians, practically taking their campaign instructions from the infamous Goebbels, have sacrilegiously desecrated some holy places by whispering terrible untruths to terrify the Jewish voters."

"These Nazi-minded supporters of political machines should be repudiated by the Jewish people who still remember and tremble at the thought of the horrible crematoriums of Dachau and Buchenwald," the ad said further.

This is typical of Sheldon's methods in the Anti-Nazi league under the financial patronage of Lipschutz.

This attempt to create a scare of crematoriums in New York was the more vicious because the principal backer of this "Nazi-minded political machine" was David Dubinsky, the president of the Garment Workers' union, one of the foremost political and financial backers of the State of Israel. Through his so-called Liberal party, a subsidiary of the union, Dubinsky tried to elect Judge Ferdinand Pecora, the Tammany candidate, who has never uttered a syllable of anti-Semitic sentiment in his life.

Sheldon's league maintains a staff of male and female fly-cops to win the confidence of American citizens, trap them into unwary statements, and then denounce them as anti-Semites.

Mahan and Fluegge said Miss Davis showed them carbon copies of letters to Molotov and General Zukov, of Soviet Russia, and "maybe to Ilya Ehrenberg," the anti-American Soviet journalist. They said these letters praised the Russian war effort, but completely ignored the American effort. Both men said the letters were sent out without their knowledge.

Mahan said Lipschutz spoke of Ehrenberg as a personal friend. He said there was another letter to a member of the French delegation to the United Nations "which we thought should have gone to a member of the American delegation."

Mahan, Fluegge and Eliot demanded that Lipschutz dismiss the person who had written these and other letters. They resigned when he refused. This was in 1946. It appears the management was mostly in Lipschutz's hands.

The Buchanan committee of congress, by deliberate design, failed to take any notice of Lipschutz or the activities of either of his organizations when it was pounding several pro-American organizations last summer.

Extra Care Necessary in Child's Formative Years

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
The early years of life are the formative ones both physically and mentally. They are also years in which mothers are worked hard and can wreck their strength and dispositions unless they take the problems of early childhood sensibly and easily.

The little pamphlet about children from three to six recently published by the Public Affairs Committee (22 East 38th St., New York 16, N. Y.—20 cents) is a great help to mothers who have children in this age bracket.

The pamphlet points out that 3 to 6 is a restless age. Youngsters who are ready for school can wear a mother down in no time. They overflow with questions, and their physical activity is past belief. "I want to go out and play" is the theme song of this age, and although they lack the sense to play safely all the time, this desire cannot be resisted.

Most children are ready for school at about four years, but school is not always possible. Some group or gang is almost necessary and children who cannot get school so early may be just as well off if they have friends to play with.

When school time comes, however, mothers should resist the tendency to feel blue about it because they are losing their "baby." This can make the youngster feel guilty and self-conscious at what should be a happy occasion.

On the other hand mothers should

Li'l Abner Cartoon Characters Come to Life at Plum Hollow Party Saturday

The Plum Hollow Country club held its annual "Sadie Hawkins Day" party Saturday night, and it surpassed all previous ones. For originality of costumes. A capacity crowd attended. First prize was awarded to Mrs. James McClanahan for the women and Howard Lieber for the men.

Mrs. Frank Hoyle had the party in hysterics with her antics.

Mrs. James McClanahan and Howard Lieber, winners of first prizes.

Bill Guppy and Ina Jones were enjoying a little of the light fantastic when this shot was made.

George and Ginger Koebler make an attractive couple as this photo reveals. Of course George is the one with the female garb and his pretty wife wears the Derby hat. As though YOU didn't know!

Ministers Put Off Plan for County Group

with the truant and his family after the first case of missing school the child might be straightened out before he had to be put into another home or sent to a reform school.

At their November meeting a committee was appointed to draw up a constitution for a county-wide organization. The constitution was read today by the Rev. A. C. Nesmith, Dixon. However, though there are 17 churches outside Dixon, only three pastors appeared to express their opinions on the constitution and the new organization.

It was decided a letter would be sent to each minister asking him either to appear at the January meeting or send his written ideas on the Lee county group.

Though the association usually meets on the first Monday of the month, the January meeting will be held at the Loveland Community center Jan. 8, since the first Monday is New Year's day.

The Rev. Clarence B. Fike, presided at the meeting today. Other officers are the Rev. Elmer B. Fitch, vice president, and the Rev. C. L. Wagner, secretary-treasurer.

Members of the committee which drafted the constitution were Rev. Vernon Jones and A. C. Nesmith, both Dixon; the Rev. Charles M. Hill, Amboy, and the Rev. O. Kalk.

Threat a Major One

The appearance of more and more Chinese Communists at the fronts deepened the threat to the entire UN position on the peninsula.

General MacArthur estimated 818,000 Chinese are in North Korea and along the Yalu river boundary of Red Manchuria. He said another 200,000 Chinese are moving to the area from central China.

Patricia Lauer-George Weir Wed at Amboy Church Dec. 2

St. Patrick's church, Amboy, was the setting of the pretty early winter wedding of Catherine Patricia Lauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon A. Lauer, Amboy, and George W. Weir, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weir of LaSalle, Saturday morning, Dec. 2nd. The bridegroom is employed at the INU company in Dixon.

Pine boughs of green and candles were on the altar for the 9 a.m. double ring ceremony. White ribbons were on the pews. Rev. James Lauer OSB of St. Joseph's parish, Peru, uncle of the bride, performed the wedding ceremony and Rev. R. C. Troy, pastor of St. Patrick's parish celebrated the mass.

Ronald Full of Amboy, nuptial vocalist, was accompanied by the church organist, Sister Hyacinth. His selections included "Ave Maria" and "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother."

Gown of White Satin

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin styled with a portrait neckline, outlined with seed pearls; fitted bodice and train. The panels of the graceful skirt were joined in front from the waist to the floor with seed pearls. The bride wore a fingertip veil and her pearls were a gift from the groom. She carried a shower bouquet of white calla lilies.

Miss Ellen Lauer of Amboy was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a colonial style gown of American Beauty red. The bodice and tunic were of velvet and the lower part of the skirt was of taffeta. She carried a bouquet of red and white carnations and wore a wreath of green ivy in her hair. James O'neal of La Salle was best man and the ushers were Charles Dickinson of Amboy, brother-in-law of the bride and Delbert Tipton of La Salle.

The bride's mother watched the ceremony in a black and rose crepe dress with black accessories and the mother of the groom was present in a gray dress with maroon accessories. They wore white carnation corsages.

Reception at Home

A wedding breakfast honored the newlyweds at the Rainbow Inn and a reception was held at the bride's home from 1 to 3 p.m. Mrs. John Elliott of Amboy and Mrs. Phil Hammond of Dixon served the wedding cake: Miss Mary O'Rourke and Mrs. Joe Mekeel, Amboy, poured; Mrs. Robert Boyle, Amboy, had charge of the bride's book and Miss Mildred Price of Amboy was in charge of the gifts.

When the newlyweds left on a wedding trip to Biloxi, Miss the bride wore a gold wool-jersey dress trimmed with gold pearls; a matching feather hat and black accessories. White carnations were in her corsage. Upon their return they will be at home in Amboy.

A graduate of Amboy Township high school, the bride has been employed for several years at the First National bank, Amboy. The groom is a graduate of the LaSalle high school and attended L.P.O. college, La Salle.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from: Aurora, Marengo, Winnetka, Oregon, La Salle, Chicago, Dixon and Sublette.

Former Dixonite

Of interest in Dixon is the following article from a Chicago paper as Mrs. Frances Digby West formerly lived in Dixon. Her friends here knew her as Mrs. Arnold. She later married Mr. West of Chicago.

"Lord Digby, who arrives here this weekend with Lady Digby for the International Livestock Exposition, is a cousin of Mrs. Frances Digby West of Wilmette. Mrs. West hopes to entertain for her English cousin and his wife at the Indian Hill Club if their busy schedule will permit. They are to be the house guests of Mrs. Mildard Kennedy in Evanston, who met them a year ago last Spring through a letter of introduction from Mrs. West.

Cardinals in 20-10 Upset Win Over Bears

Hardy's Passing Helps Cards Defeat Cross Town Rivals

Coach Curly Lambeau's Chicago Cardinals put a thrilling climax to their dismal football season when they whipped their cross-town rivals, the Chicago Bears 20-10, before a crowd of 39,915 hardy football fans.

Cardinal Quarterback Jim Hardy led the attack with some of the sharpest passing shown in league play this year. Before he uncorked his first touchdown heave, Hardy sneaked over for a TD from the 54 yard line after he completed a 54 yard pass to Bob Shaw to put the ball in scoring position.

Hardy passed to Don Paul for the second Cardinal score, the play covering 35 yards and coming in the final period to give the Cardinals a 17-10 advantage.

The loss dropped the Bears from the undisputed lead in the National conference of the National league. Pending the outcome of Green Bay's game at Los Angeles, the Bears and Rams were tied for first place.

FIRST QUARTER
Pat Harder returned the opening kick-off 21 yards to the Cardinal 41 and the south siders moved to the Bears' five yard line, but Jim Hardy's fourth down pass was incomplete and the Bears took over. Julie Rykovich moved the ball to the 26 in four carries, but the Cards held and Fred Morrison punted to the Cardinal's 35. Charley Trippi made two yards after slipping and then Hardy pitched a 35 yard pass to Harder Trippi took a five yard pass and then went to the 15 on two running plays. On fourth down, Harder kicked a field goal from the 23. Score: Cardinals, 3; Bears, 0.

SECOND QUARTER
The Cardinals received a break shortly after the period started when Jim Keane fumbled after taking a 20 yard pass from Johnny Lujack. Bill Blackburn recovered for the Cardinals on their 45. On the first play, Hardy passed 54 yards to Bob Shaw who was forced out two feet from the goal line. On second down Hardy went over. Harder kicked the extra point. Score: Cardinals, 10; Bears, 0.

The Bears got a break when Mike Swistowicz fumbled after fielding a punt and Wayne Hansen recovered for the Bears on the Cardinals' 34. Lujack directed the attack to the Cardinal 12, but George Gulyanics fumbled and Jerry Davis recovered. The south siders moved to their 43. Hardy punted on fourth down, but the Bears were charged with holding and the Cardinals took the ball on the Bears' 41. After two plays failed to gain, Ed Sprinkle tossed Hardy for an 11 yard loss and the Cardinal quarterback punted out on the Bears 23.

The north siders moved to their 41. After Tom Wham tossed Al Campana for a 7 yard loss, Morrison punted out on the Cardinal 8. On fourth down Hardy attempted to punt from his goal line. The kick was partially blocked by Ray Bray and John Hoffman picked up the loose ball and returned to the Cardinal 18. Morrison hit the line for 9 yards, and Rykovich, in three bursts, carried to the 1. Lujack scored and kicked the extra point. Score: Cardinals, 10; Bears, 7.

THIRD QUARTER
Charley Hunsinger returned the kick off 10 yards to the 32. George Gulyanics crashed thru for 31 yards to the Cardinal 37. Rykovich and Gulyanics moved the ball to the 17. The Cardinals held and George Blanda's field goal attempt from the 25 was wide. Hardy's pass to Trippi was complete on the 32, but Trippi fumbled and George McAfee recovered for the Bears. After Hunsinger lost 5, Lujack passed to Keane for 14 yards.

The Bear quarterback ran to 9. On fourth down with the ball on the 3, the Bears deliberately stalled and were penalized 5 yards. From the better angle at the 15 yard line, Lujack kicked a field goal. Score: Cardinals, 10; Bears, 10.

A 27 yard pass, Lujack to Rykovich, set up another field goal attempt, but Blanda missed from the 33. Score: Cardinals, 10; Bears, 10.

FOURTH QUARTER
The Cardinals took a 17 to 19 lead at 7:02 of the fourth period, moving 66 yards to a touchdown in 12 plays. The scoring play was a 35 yard pass from Hardy to Don Paul, who grabbed the ball on the goal line from between Harper Davis, Don Kindt, and McAfee. Harder's kick was good. Score: Cardinals, 17; Bears, 10.

On the first play after the kickoff Weasel Davis of the Cardinals intercepted a pass from Lujack on the 50 yard line. Hardy passed to Trippi for 7 yards and Trippi made it first down on the 36. Harder punched his way to the 24 and Elmer Angsman went to the 19. Ventan Yablonski was stopped at the 19, then kicked a field goal from the 26. Score: Cardinals, 20; Bears, 10.

The Bears tried to get back in the game with a desperation air attack, but Jerry Hennessey balked the drive when he broke thru and tossed Lujack for an 11 yard loss. The Bears were forced to punt and the Cardinals ran out the time, punting on the last play. Final Score: Cardinals, 20; Bears, 10.

Illinois Cagers Open Season Tonight, 3 Sophmores Start

Illinois' basketball bottle will bubble at Champaign tonight when the untied sophomore Illini squad plays host to Marquette. The tilt looms as a battle of sophomores as seven players from the combined squads will take their taste of collegiate game competition.

Three men of Harry Combes starting five will be playing their first game for the Illini. Meanwhile Marquette will break four sophs into their line-up.

Combes Fourth Year
Harry Combes, beginning his fourth year as head coach of the fighting Illini, has named Irv Bemoras, Clive Folmer and Bob Peterson as the three yearlings he plans to start. Tallest of the group is Peterson who stands six foot eight inches and will handle the pivot post for the hosts.

Throughout pre-season practice Peterson has lead the point making department. This will be his first outing in college competition and he will be opposed by a 6-7 performer in Grant Wittberger. Marquette center. The question is whether or not Peterson can maintain his scoring pace against men's own height. He has not met an opponent his size since his Elgin high school days.

Veterans in Backcourt
At the forwards for Illinois will be Bemoras and Folmer. Both boys exceed the six foot mark by four inches. They have shown much improvement in practice and are expected to be definite scoring threats.

In the back-court Coach Combes will have two returning veterans, Don Sunderlage and Rod Fletcher. Sunderlage measures even with the six foot tape, while Fletcher maintains the 6-4 average set up in the fore-court.

Sunderlage appears to be ready for his best year. He is the most experienced man on the Illini squad having been a starter on the Illinois Big Ten championship team of 1948-49.

Fletcher, although not near his peak, has earned himself a starters berth because of his passing and rebounding ability.

Marquette Sophmores
Leading the Marquette parade of sophomore talent is Wittberger. He, with Don Marek, John Powers and Glenn Sievers, have earned starting berths over several Illini lettermen. Wittberger has proven he can learn quickly and is expected to be the Hilltoppers high point man.

Marek a 6-3 forward can push the ball with great accuracy from anywhere out on the court. He is teamed with Gene Schramka, a 6-2 junior, the lone veteran to start for Marquette. Last year Schramka covered the back-court for the Hilltoppers, but has been moved to the front line because of his rebounding ability.

Reserves Strong
Both starting guards on the Marquette five are sophmores. To date Powers, 6-2 and Sievers, 6-1, have shown enough skill to warrant the call over several of the Hilltoppers who saw reserve action last year.

Crystal Lake Defeats Spiritless Duke Five, 50-34

Cagers Lack Fight Displayed In Posting First Home Win

It was a spiritless Dixon basketball team that gave the Crystal Lake "Lakers" a 50-34 victory at the Duke gym Saturday night. Before a home crowd of more than 1,000 spectators the Dukes displayed a complete reversal of form from their first home appearance, and it made the Dixon fans burn. In fact, it was the only spark the Dukes cagers were able to generate that evening.

Coach Lon Scofield tried a number of combinations in an attempt to organize a fighting five, but no pattern matched.

The home club permitted the Lakers to outmaneuver them in all departments, and at times played a half of ball that was futile. The Dukes looked more like "Duchesses" as they allowed the Lakers to drive past them for easy lay-up shots.

Dukes Lack Fight

Both, offensively and defensively, the Dixon cagers never showed the style of ball they were capable of playing.

During the course of the evening the Dukes seldom operated as a five man unit. They persisted in dribbling themselves into positions that blanked all possibility of handling the ball. Their passes were thrown wildly or clumsily fumbled.

There was one bright spot however, in the Dixon loss. "Big Jim" played his usual rebounding game, both off the offensive and defensive boards. He kept the Dukes in the ball game during the fourth quarter by chalking up seven of the 10 points they scored. For his evening's work he earned 22 points and high scoring honors.

Only 3 Dukes Score

Besides Mercer, only two other Dukes were able to hit the hoop. Bill Lafferty drove in for a lay-up in the second quarter and Dan Heck dumped in a rebound early in the final period. The remainder of the Dukes went scoreless from the floor.

On the free throw line the home club hit on only 12 of 29 attempts. The Lakers forward, Fred Schneider, toyed with the Dukes and poured in on when he became aware of their indifferent attitude.

He tallied 17 points to lead the invaders and played an all-around floor game that made him sparkle. Schneider scored the Lakers' first basket after Mercer had opened the game with a short jump shot. Mercer again pulled the Dukes out in front 4-2, with another of his favorite shots, but the Lakers stormed back to knot the count at 7-all and then take the lead which they never relinquished.

Lakers Stretch Lead

The first quarter ended with the Lakers in front 13-10. In the following period they stretched their lead to five points and then stalled the remaining two and a half minutes for a 20-15 half-time advantage.

John Sayles, Laker center then took command after the rest period and marked up three quick baskets to give the invaders a safe nine point lead going into the fourth quarter, the Lakers 33, Dixon 24.

Except for Mercer's efforts the Dukes were completely outclassed in the final eight minutes. The Lakers effectively varied their offensive tactics against the Duke reserves. They stalled, and then they drove in to score. When the final whistle sounded the Lakers were way out in front 50-34 and the Dukes lost their first game at home.

Trapping Season Opens in Illinois

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 29.—An estimated half million muskrat, possum, muskrats and other fur-bearing animals in Illinois will eventually become material for women's glossy coats as a result of the 60-day trapping season which opened Friday.

Illinois conservation department officials said that 21,069 resident licenses were issued last season to trappers who had authority to lay a total of a half million traps.

Since the prospect for the 1950 fur market is better than that for 1949, officials estimated that at least as many licenses would be issued this year.

Illinois trappers last season took 14,401 red and grey fox; 33,827 muskrat; 291,224 muskrat; 75,005 opossum; 87,046 raccoon; 17,320 skunk and 933 weasel pelts. The total was 521,256 pelts.

The trapping season for these fur-bearers began Friday, Dec. 1, and runs through January 31, 1951. The 60-day season starts at noon on the opening day and ends at noon on the closing day.

It is unlawful in Illinois to kill beaver or otter at any time.

St. Paul's-West Side Meet in Feature Church League Tilt

The Dixon Church league will swing into its second round of cage play tonight as the St. Paul Lutheran's defending champs oppose their strongest rivals, West Side in the feature game at 8 o'clock.

At seven o'clock Bethel will face the Baptists and in the wind up at nine, Grace will exchange baskets with Tabernacle.

20 College Elevens Retain Clean Slate

New York, Dec. 4 (AP)—An even 20 college football teams completed their regular 1950 season unbeaten and untied.

Army's amazing 14-2 setback by Navy was the lone weekend casualty Oklahoma, the nation's top-ranked team, wound up a perfect campaign by routing Oklahoma A & M, 41-14, for its 10th triumph in as many games.

It is in for we're rather ashamed of it. Although the loss was by 22 runs, 2500 to 2500, you'll notice the girl received a handshake and a pat on the back. Homer Eringer was the outstanding star for the men, taking all three games and 333 to Eringer's 193. Eringer was the only other man to average near 400, his own, being able to win the last game, and the Virginia "for total" plus with 497, when his better half came up with five wide open spots in her last game. Eringer's Paul Jones had the series and the series to his wife, Lorraine. Paul Jones had the same success with Lorraine. Eringer's wife, Lorraine, had a score and a half, when her husband's score was 100. Eringer's wife, Lorraine, had a score and a half, when her husband's score was 100.

America's Children: The Displaced Generation

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—Today's youngsters are a displaced generation.

No previous crop of U. S. children has ever been forced to adjust to such revolutionary changes in the American way of life as have taken place in the last 10 years.

The magnitude of the problems and their significance is revealed for the first time in one of the most comprehensive series of reports ever made on the status of U. S. youth. Just completed, and made available through NEA Service exclusively, the reports are the results of more than a year's work by 15,000 doctors, educators, judges and other experts, aided by changes which have taken place in American life which are having a major effect on the lives and personalities of U. S. youth:

American families have suddenly become mobile, creating a shifting population. The need for a family to plant "roots" appears to be an obsolete idea. Unfortunately for American children, schools, playgrounds and community health services are not mobile at all.

Result: Jammed schools in some places, empty ones elsewhere. And children's personalities aren't as mobile as their bodies.

The tremendous increase in the number of old people in the population, as a result of lengthening the life span of the average person, has put this group in competition with the youth of the country for welfare funds, public assistance benefits and social services. This takes place at a time when most states and communities are being forced to reduce such expenditures below what they were before the war.

The nation's youth has been exposed to a world orgy of anti-racial activity, featuring the inhuman persecution of minority groups.

Result: A bruise on youthful minds which is very slow healing.

At the same time, new attitudes, laws and court decisions have created a revolution in race relations in the past 10 years.

Result: American youth is being asked to try to take a tremendous social leap in this respect, where previous generations have taken only mincing steps.

Mothers have made a mass exodus from the home to take jobs outside. And every day more of them are leaving the kitchen for a place on a payroll.

Result: Millions of kids know the head of the day-care center better than their mothers.

As a result of World War II marriages, millions of youngsters are just beginning to get well-acquainted with their fathers. And hundreds of thousands of other children know their fathers only from intermittent visits to Veterans Administration hospitals.

Much is made of the country's record post-war prosperity. As far as millions of children go it's strictly phony. The family has a new shiny car because that's the only way daddy can get to his job which is 20 miles away.

Result: The family is in debt and when food prices inch up the youngsters get hot dogs four times a week.

In addition to the new major post-war social and cultural changes which are making life so turbulent and confused for American youth, the chronic social problems which have always been around have been greatly aggravated.

The increase in divorce is breaking up more homes and twisting the lives of millions of innocent children.

The wave of organized crime now gripping the country, taking billions in profits from families that can't afford it, is having its bad effect on U. S. children. The general moral laxity which is evident in so many phases of American life is also doing its damage to young minds.

On top of everything else there is the phenomenal war and post-war increase in the country's birth

In the last decade, a strange new impact has hit the lives of youngsters like the ones at left, uprooted from their home "roots" by a shifting population. Here's the first of five dispatches that tell what is happening to America's children, based on an exclusive preview of the comprehensive reports to be aired at the Midcentury White House Conference on Children and Youth next month.

MIDCENTURY REPORT—Melvin A. Glusser (seated), executive director of the Midcentury White House Conference on Children and Youth, sizes up the voluminous reports on which the conference will be based. With him (left to right) are Juanita Luck, youth consultant of the Federal Security Administration; Louis de Boer, director of state and local action for the conference, and Louise Gatz, field consultant.

rate. Even without the new problems, the mere addition of so many youngsters to the population would have created a crisis. The increase

Hoarding Going On in County—The Right Kind!

There's been some hoarding in Lee County!

But, it's the type of hoarding Benjamin Franklin would have approved: The laying by of dollars for future use.

In October, folks with an eye to the future put $3,263 in Series "E" U. S. Savings Bonds in this county. They saved $32,762 in the same type bonds in October, 1949. Statewide $21,532,525 were invested in savings bonds in October, compared with $25,557,206 in October, 1949.

An education for their children, retirement for themselves, and any number of other sound reasons are behind buying of Savings Bonds. Many younger people started their first saving program this way. Others signed up for regular bond buying where they work in the current Payroll Savings Drive.

Oliver Gehant of West Brooklyn, Ill. is volunteer U. S. Savings Bonds chairman in this county.

Chicago—The best use the Republicans can make of campaign funds is to turn them over to Mr. Truman for making radio speeches. That last speech he made just before election was such a spectacle that it must have gained the Republican several million votes.

Radio 'Hams' Pick Marriner New Director

Wesley E. Marriner of 624 College Ave., has been elected by amateur radio operators in the states of Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin to represent them in affairs of the American Radio Relay League, national amateur association. On January 1st, Marriner becomes director of the Central Division of the League, comprising the three named states.

Marriner won the directorship by a vote of 930 to 727 over his opponent, John G. Doyle, the incumbent from Milwaukee, Wis.

Marriner is assistant to the Research Engineer of the Illinois Highway Engineering District No. 2 Office. An active radio amateur, he is licensed by the Federal Communications Commission to use the call letters W9AND. Marriner had previously served as an alternate director from the Central Division and was ARRL Section Communications Manager of Illinois from 1946 through 1948.

During the war, he was an instructor in radio operating at the Officer Candidate School at Yale University.

The affairs of the American Radio Relay League, Inc., are governed by a Board of Directors which is selected every two years by the general membership. The League is non-commercial and no one commercially engaged in the manufacture, sale or rental of radio apparatus is eligible to membership on its board.

Calls for Unity in Famine, Red Threat

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Dec. 4.—(AP)—With his country threatened by famine from within and communism invasion from without, Premier Marshal Tito called today for "The kind of unity which enabled us to overcome all trials and storms of the past."

The marshal addressed his plea in a lengthy letter to a meeting of the Zagreb organization of the Communist party.

Court Removes Minister as Pastor Who Defied His Parish

Decatur, Ill., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Macon county circuit court Saturday removed from his pastorate a minister who three church trustees said was "out of harmony with the teachings" of his church.

Judge Martin E. Morthland made permanent an order issued last January ousting the Rev. W. G. Finney from the pulpit of the West Macon Street Church of God.

The injunction was asked by three trustees—Vernon Spahr, Willard Hake and Orville Spencer—and other members of the church. They said Finney refused to quit after the church's Illinois State Ministerial Assembly "disfellowshipped" him in November, 1949.

The injunction forbids Finney and 16 other church members attempting to control or take part in activities of the Decatur church.

The court's action was recommended by Master in Chancery Walker H. Mills, who said in his report the Assembly's reasons for its action were "an ecclesiastical matter not for a court of law."

Mills, who held hearings last summer, said Finney violated church by-laws by trying to reorganize the church a year ago after he had been "disfellowshipped." Mills said the pastor failed to exercise his rights to appeal to the church's General Ministerial Assembly in Anderson, Ind.

Finney, in July, sued nine leaders of the Church of God for $125,000 for alleged libel.

Three Die as Navy Plane Hits Mountain

Asheville, N. C., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Three crew members were killed and a fourth was seriously injured when their navy transport plane crashed into a mountainside 10 miles southeast of here yesterday.

Identification of the victims was withheld.

The plane, a small twin-engine transport, crashed in a driving rainstorm. It was on a flight from Pomona naval air base near Atlantic City, N. J.

228 ACRES PUBLIC SALE

To Be Held On Wednesday, Dec. 6, 1950
Starting Promptly at 1:00 P. M.
Located 1 mile north and 1 mile west of Walnut, Illinois

Good Improvements

Buildings include an eight-room semi-modern house, with bathroom; large hip roof barn, 40x50, cement floors; 2 double corn cribs—1 new, holds 5,000 bushels of corn, with overhead bins holding 3,000 bushels of small grain; crib No. 2 in good repair, 3,000 bushel capacity for corn. Approximately 7,000 bushels of corn raised on this farm this year.

This is a good livestock and grain farm. Its production record will speak well enough for itself. It has a fine location, being only a little over a mile from Walnut.

It sets in a community of other farms that money will not buy. Possession can be given on March 1st, 1951, which should be an added attraction for someone wanting a farm for next year. Take advantage of the opportunity that this sale will offer, as it will prove itself very worthy, either as a home or for interest on your money.

TERMS—15% down on day of sale, balance March 1st, 1951, when possession will be given.

Christmas Seal Contributions Are Needed Now

More than 10,000 letters were mailed this month to individuals and organization throughout Lee county in time for delivery on November 20, opening date of the 44th annual Christmas Seal Sale.

The week preceding this date, posters were placed in business establishments in the entire county. Spot announcements are being aired over our own Dixon radio station and movie trailers shown in the movie houses of the county.

In addition, an estimated 100 coin containers have been placed in stores, restaurants and other places of business throughout the county under the direction of Walter C. Knack and his men.

If you have not already sent in your contribution to Lee County Tuberculosis Association, Box 226, we urge you to do so as soon as possible.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

Awakened for the second time on Christmas Eve, flat-headed Ebenezer Scrooge went looking for the source of the noise.

State Traffic Toll Hits Nine Over Weekend

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Traffic accidents took at least nine lives in Illinois using the weekend. A survey of the state showed the following fatalities:

Xenia, Ill., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The drivers of two cars were killed Sunday in the collision of their autos about one mile south of Xenia.

Dead are the Rev. Donald Ball, 42, of Salem, Ill., and Russell Whaling, about 30, of Madison, Ill.

Ball's wife and two daughters and Whaling's passengers James E. Doak, 38, and Richard Bock, 21, both of East St. Louis, Ill., were injured. All were brought to the Clay county hospital at nearby Flora.

Police said the Ball family was enroute to Salem after Rev. Ball had delivered a sermon in an Xenia area church.

EVANSTON ACCIDENT
Chicago, Dec. 4.—(AP)—An early morning crash in suburban Evanston killed a young Chicago couple Sunday.

Walter Herold, 22, Northwestern university freshman, and his date, Miss Pearl Thimmes, 21, were killed when Herold's car collided with one driven by Ralph E. Lind, 35, Evanston truck driver.

Wayne Anderson, 21, and Virginia Hagg, 19, were riding in the Herold car, were injured. Miss Hagg seriously.

Lind also was hurt.

and Mrs. Kenneth Hornsby of Fairbury, Ill.

The accident occurred on State Route 24, at the edge of nearby Weston.

State police said Darlene had been playing with a sister in the back seat of the car when she suddenly tumbled out.

TRAIN-CAR CRASH
Centralia, Ill., Dec. 4.—(AP)—A train-automobile collision took the life of James Pollard, 41, Sunday. Pollard, a Centralia barber, was killed when his car collided with an Illinois Central passenger train at a Centralia crossing.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Herman Legatzke, 54, of Mokena, Ill., was killed Saturday in a two-car collision near suburban Palos

Cease Fire on UN Order in Palestine

Jerusalem, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Israel and Jordan heeded a United Nations cease fire order last night after their forces clashed on a disputed road in the Negev desert.

Two Arab Legion armored cars were knocked out by Israeli forces in the brief engagement, the mixed Jordan-Israeli armistice commission reported. The group has scheduled a meeting for today.

At Syracuse, N. Y., a traffic light that talks has a loudspeaker fed by a tape recorder to warn pedestrians to be careful.

Concert Singer, Wife Are Parents of Girl

Hollywood, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A baby girl was born last night to Mrs. Betty Lanza, wife of concert and film singer, Mario Lanza. The eight-pound infant will be named Elissa. The couple has a two-year-old daughter, Colleen.

Artificial Heart, Lung May Save Surgery Victims

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
Cleveland, Dec. 4—(AP)—Some day soon a human who is "clinically" dead may be brought back to life by a new artificial heart-and-lung machine.

One machine that may do this is being kept in readiness during difficult heart operations at Hahnemann hospital in Philadelphia, in case the patient's heart stops.

The machine and its potentialities were described yesterday by Dr. Charles P. Bailey, chief of chest surgery, and associates at Hahnemann, to the Ohio chapter of the American College of Chest Physicians.

Works on Dogs
It has worked successfully on dogs. It kept one dog alive for 71 minutes, while it pumped her blood and gave it new oxygen, he said.

It took dark-red blood from two veins near the heart, by-passing the dog's own heart and lungs, and pumped refreshed, bright red blood back into an artery in the neck. The dog recovered completely after the machine was disconnected, and her own heart took over its normal work.

Newest Type
The machine is the latest of a dozen or more developed in the last 20 years. The hope for this one lies in its efficient steel "lung" and a special new pump. It is compact, with all its parts contained in a glass cabinet only 30 inches high, 16 inches wide and 18 inches deep.

Because of the risk, it cannot be used now on a living person, Dr. Bailey said. It's first test probably will come when a patient dies during an operation, when his heart stops beating.

The lung is a steel cylinder, 26 inches high, six inches wide. Transparent plastic tubes, attached to one or two veins, bring venous blood into its top by gravity. The blood trickles in tiny droplets through a mosquito-like netting of stainless steel mesh, and takes up oxygen blowing up from below.

The artificial heart, no larger than the actual human heart, pumps the blood back through another tube connected to an artery. It takes in gulps of blood, and squeezes it along in pulses, but with gentle pressure that avoids damage to fragile blood cells. The transparent plastic pump has no valves or gaskets that could contaminate the blood. The blood touches only the plastic walls and a surgical rubber liner covering the wobbling shaft that pulses the blood through.

An electric coil keeps the blood warm, and a chemical prevents clotting.

The machine was developed in joint research by Hahnemann Medical College, Drexel Institute of Technology, and J. J. Ashton company, New York city engineering development firm.

The FBI says there were no cases of enemy-directed sabotage in World War II. Eight German saboteurs were brought to Florida and Long Island by submarines in June, 1942, but they were arrested in New York and Chicago and six of them went speedily to the electric chair.

Defense Administration
President Truman has created the Federal Civil Defense Administration (FCDA), headed by Milward F. Calwell, Jr.

The administration has asked congress to enact a law putting this agency on a sound legal basis and giving it broad powers. There is some controversy over details, but congress is expected to approve most of the program.

This time, the state governments will have a greater part in the civil defense set-up. Millions of volunteers must be called to service. They will need better training and more equipment than the air raid wardens of 1941. The whole population must be taught what to do in emergencies.

There is a widespread feeling this time, that we are playing for keeps.

Sharks rarely are found in fresh water, but Lake Nicaragua, in Central America, contains sharks as well as other sea fish.

George Cowley on Destroyer Escort
George W. Cowley, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Cowley, of Route 1, Dixon, Ill., serving aboard the destroyer escort, USS Foss, which was recently transferred from the Atlantic Fleet to the Pacific Fleet.

The USS Foss carries special ship-to-shore electric power equipment capable of furnishing enough electricity to service a city of 10,000 population. In August, 1949 her services in this connection were offered to certain New England cities when electrical power had been destroyed by disastrous forest fires.

Plan Defense Against Enemy Penetration in Next War

By MAX HALL
Washington, Dec. 4—(AP)—The American homeland, almost unscratched by the enemy in two world wars, is unprepared for enemy attacks in case of a third.

Therefore, with the world situation growing worse, civil defense has become a subject of red-hot activity almost overnight.

In the first world war, the enemy dented the U. S. mainland by a few acts of sabotage only.

Shell Barges
Probably the closest approach made by German military forces occurred on July 21, 1918. Just off the Cape Cod shore, in plain view of astonished bathers on the beach, a U-boat poured shells into a string of four barges and sank them.

In the second world war, the enemy made deeper pinpricks.

On the evening of Feb. 23, 1942, while Americans listened to a fire-side chat by President Roosevelt, a Japanese submarine rose from the sea near Santa Barbara, Calif., and shelled an oil refinery.

In the same period, a submarine shelled the shore batteries at Astoria, Ore. And a plane released from a submarine dropped incendiary bombs near Brookings, Ore., in an effort to set forest fires.

Other submarine-based aircraft are believed to have flown over Seattle.

Air Raid Scares
Air raid scares agitated Los Angeles, San Francisco, New York and other cities—1,440 rounds of anti-aircraft ammunition were fired in Los Angeles—but there appears to be no proof that enemy planes visited any of those places.

Later in the war, in 1944 and 1945, the Japanese sent thousands of bomb-laden balloons floating across the Pacific. One of them killed a woman and five children.
